

About Our Contributors

Dr. Marcella Colbert, M.B., MRCPsych, DPM, is Director of the Respect Life Office of the Archdiocese of Galveston-Houston since 1973. She took her degrees in Medicine and Psychiatry at University College Dublin in 1968 and 1972, and she became a member of the Royal College of Psychiatrists in 1973. She has studied at the Tavistock Clinic of Humane Relations (London) and at Cambridge University. She has extensive experience as a clinical psychiatrist and as a teacher of clinical psychiatry to undergraduate and post graduate physicians. Active since 1969 in pro-life initiatives, she has made numerous presentations at pro-life conferences. She lives in Houston, Texas with her six children.

Rev. John J. Conley, S.J., is Professor of Philosophy at Fordham University. Having received his doctorate in Philosophy from the Catholic University of Louvain in 1988, he has focused his research on Ethics and Modern French Philosophy. Recent publications include The Suspicion of Virtue: Women Philosophers in Neoclassical France (Cornell Univ. Press, 2002), Jacqueline Pascal: A Rule for Children (Univ. of Chicago Press, 2003) and Madame de Maintenon: Dialogues and Addresses (Univ. of Chicago Press, 2004).

Prof. William C. Duncan is a Fellow of the Sutherland Institute in Salt Lake City, Utah. He has previously served as the Executive Director of the Marriage and Family Law Grant at the J. Reuben Clark Law School, Brigham Young University where he served as a Visiting Professor. Mr. Duncan also been the Acting Director of the Marriage Law Project based at the Columbus School of Law at the Catholic University of America. He graduated from J. Reuben Clark Law School in 1998. He has also served as counsel to the Secretary of Education's Commission on Opportunity in Athletics. Mr. Duncan has published numerous articles in legal journals and other publications on issues related to family law and policy and the constitution.

Prof. Damian P. Fedoryka obtained his graduate degrees from Fordham University and the University of Salzburg after receiving an undergraduate education at the University of Louvain. Currently a Professor of Philosophy at Ave Maria College in Ypsilanti Michigan, he has previously served as President of Christendom College and has taught at several universities, including Franciscan University of Steubenville. He has also done extensive lecturing and teaching in post-Communist Ukraine. His professional interests include the personalism of Karol Wojtyła/John Paul II and the philosophical analysis of the cultures of life and death. He has been involved in pro-life activities since 1970.

Prof. Anne Barbeau Gardiner is Professor Emerita of John Jay College, CUNY, and a member of the Fellowship of Catholic Scholars. She publishes on Dryden, Milton, Swift, and English Catholic writers of the 17th and 18th centuries. Her most recent book is, Ancient Faith and Modern Freedom in John Dryden's The Hind and the Panther (Catholic Univ. of America Press, 1998).

Prof. Laura L. Garcia teaches at Boston College, where she specializes in Metaphysics and Philosophy of Religion. She also speaks and writes broadly on issues concerning human life, marriage, and sexuality. Her essay "Protecting Persons" is forthcoming in The Contribution of Pope John Paul II to Medical Ethics (Dordrecht: Springer, 2004).

Prof. Christopher Kaczor earned his bachelor's in Philosophy from Boston College in 1992 and his Ph.D. from the University of Notre Dame in 1996. An Alexander von Humboldt Federal Chancellor Fellow and Fulbright scholar, he is the author of Proportionalism and the Natural Law Tradition (Catholic Univ. of America Press, 2002) as well as The Edge of Life: Human Dignity and Contemporary Bioethics (Springer, 2005). He is currently an associate professor of philosophy at Loyola Marymount University, Los Angeles.

Dr. Hanna Klaus, M.D., F.A.C.O.G. (Sr. Miriam Paul) is a Medical Mission Sister. She directed the Departments of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Holy Family Hospital Rawalpindi, Pakistan, from 1961 to 1966 and worked in Dhaka, Bangladesh from 1966 to 1968. Currently she is the Executive Director of the Natural Family Planning Center of Washington, D.C., Inc. and the Teen STAR Program (Sexuality Teaching in the context of Adult Responsibility), an international pro-active sexuality education program for teens that currently operates in 27 countries. She has taught at Washington University, St. Louis University, and George Washington University Medical Center. She has published 60 scientific articles, and 42 “popular” articles, many concerned with natural family planning and the Teen STAR program. She is a Fellow of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists and a Diplomate of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Prof. Jeff Koloze (English) has presented numerous papers on his primary research interest: how the right-to-life issues of abortion, infanticide, and euthanasia are treated in American fiction. Many of these papers have been published in conference proceedings and on the web. His first book (on abortion in twentieth-century American fiction) is forthcoming. Currently, Dr. Koloze facilitates communications, English, and humanities courses for the University of Phoenix through its Cincinnati and Columbus campuses. Previously, he had been adjunct and full-time faculty for thirteen years at several colleges and universities in metropolitan Cleveland, Ohio and in Springfield, Ohio. He has taught undergraduate courses in business writing, grammar, rhetoric, and research as well as graduate and undergraduate literature courses. He and his wife Joan along with their four children are active in the pro-life movement. Dr. Koloze can be reached by email at JeffKoloze@juno.com.

Prof. Richard S. Myers is Professor of Law at Ave Maria School of Law. He is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Kenyon College. He earned his law degree at Notre Dame, where he won the law school’s highest academic prize. He began his legal career by clerking for Judge John F. Kilkenny of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. Professor Myers also worked for Jones, Day, Reavis & Pogue in Washington, D.C. His law practice focused on antitrust law and appellate litigation, including work on several cases before the U.S. Supreme Court. He taught at Case Western Reserve University School of Law and the University of Detroit Mercy School of Law before joining the Ave Maria faculty. His courses have included Constitutional Law and First Amendment, in addition to Antitrust, Civil Procedure, Conflict of Laws and Federal Jurisdiction. He has published extensively on constitutional law in the law reviews of Catholic University, Case Western Reserve University, Notre Dame University, and Washington and Lee University. He is a co-editor of St. Thomas Aquinas and Natural Law: Contemporary Philosophical and Theological Perspectives (Catholic Univ. of America Press) and of Catholic Social Thought, Social Science, and Social Policy: An Encyclopedia (Scarecrow Press, forthcoming). Professor Myers is the President of University Faculty for Life and the Executive Secretary of the Society of Catholic Social Scientists. Professor Myers is married to Mollie Murphy, who is also a Professor of Law at Ave Maria School of Law. They are the proud parents of six children—Michael (16), Patrick (14), Clare (12), Kathleen (11), Matthew (8), and Andrew (5).

Prof. R. Mary Hayden Lemmons is an Associate Professor of Philosophy and Catholic Studies at the University of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minnesota. She received her doctorate from the Center for Thomistic Studies at the University of St. Thomas in Houston, Texas. As her areas of specialization she lists Ethics, Political Philosophy, and Papal Philosophy, especially in the area of Feminism. Her publications include essays in Proceedings of the American Catholic Philosophical Association, The Monist, Logos, and University of St. Thomas Law Journal.

Prof. Andrew J. Peach earned his doctorate from the Catholic University of America and is currently an Assistant Professor of Philosophy at Providence College in Rhode Island. He is the co-author of An Introduction to Catholic Ethics and has published articles in International Philosophical Quarterly, Philosophical Investigations, Journal of the History of Philosophy, Seminary Journal, and Journal of Philosophical Research. In addition to the issue of Abortion, his interests include Ethical Theory, Applied Ethics, Thomas Aquinas, and Ludwig Wittgenstein.

Prof. Ronald L. Rychlak is Mississippi Defense Lawyers Association Professor of Law and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at the University of Mississippi School of Law. He earned his B.A. in Economics at Wabash College and his J.D. at Vanderbilt University. Professor Rychlak is a member of the committee appointed by the Mississippi Supreme Court to revise the state's criminal code. He also serves as an advisor to the Holy See's delegation to the United Nations, and he has been awarded three papal medals for diplomatic service to the Vatican. In 2004, the Bush Administration sent him to Paris to address the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe regarding the importance of free speech on the Internet. His next book, Righteous Gentiles: How Pope Pius XII and the Catholic Church Saved Half a Millions Jews from the Nazis, is scheduled for release in 2005.