

Acknowledgments

The essay by Grattan Brown first appeared in National Catholic Bioethics Quarterly 7/3 (Autumn 2007): 467-76 and is reprinted here by permission of Dr. Edward J. Furton, editor of the NCBQ.

A shorter version of the essay by Laura Garcia also appeared in National Catholic Bioethics Quarterly 8/2 (2008): 265-76 and is reprinted here by permission of Dr. Furton.

We are grateful to Oxford Journals/Oxford University Press for permission to reprint the essay by John Keown and David Jones entitled “Surveying the Foundations of Medical Law: A Reassessment of Glanville Williams’s The Sanctity of Life and the Criminal Law” from Medical Law Review 2008 16/1 (2008): 85-126.

A modified version of this essay by Richard Stith is to appear in Touchstone, and another version of this essay with a new beginning and a new conclusion is to appear in Boston College Journal of Law and Religion under the title “Excluding Religion Excludes More than Religion.”

The essay by Jorge Garcia first appeared in Philosophical Papers 36/2 (July 2007) : 245-69 and is republished here by permission of Ward E. Jones, editor of that journal.

The essay by Helen Alvaré, “Gonzales v. Carhart: Abortion Law that Looks like Family Law” is reprinted from Montana Law Review 69 (2007) by permission of Jessie Lundberg, Editor-in-Chief.

Permission to reprint “Bioethics, the Christian Citizen, and the Pluralist Game” from Christian Bioethics 13 (2007): 159-70 has been obtained from Oxford Journals/Oxford University Press, which now holds title to the material under the Copyright © Taylor & Francis Group, LLC.

The essay by David L. Schindler, Sr., is a reprinted with permission as a revised version of “The Dramatic Nature of Life: Liberal Societies and the Foundations of Human Dignity.” The original version appeared in Communio: International Theological Review 33 (Summer 2006): 183-202.

